Conformity with regard to legal requirements and standards for the EU market

Product launches in the European market (EU) are subject to certain regional or national legal requirements. In the European Union (EU), these legal requirements are either defined in EU regulations, which are directly applicable in all member states, or in EU directives, to which the national laws of the member states must be adapted. Compliance with the relevant legal provisions is absolutely essential for any company that imports products into the European market.

The CE marking confirms compliance with the following directives and regulations relating to product safety, electromagnetic compatibility and product performance and is certified in the following EC declarations:

- Directive 2014/35/EU ("Low Voltage Directive")
- Directive 2014/30/EU ("Electromagnetic Compatibility Directive ")
- Directive 2019/2020 ("Ecodesign requirements")

The following regulations and directives restrict the use of hazardous substances in products and packaging.

- Directive 2011/65/EU ("RoHS Directive"), its amendment (EU) 2017/2102 and additionally the addition to Annex II by (EU) 2015/863 and just as Directive 2011/65/EU ("RoHS Directive") and its amendment by (EU) 2017/2102
- Directive 94/62/EC ("Packaging Directive")
- Directive (EC) No 1907/2006 ("REACH") concerning the Registration, Evaluation, Authorization and Restrictions of Chemicals

Siteco states that

- Siteco products delivered to the EU market, now and in the future, comply with applicable legislation and product standards (EN/IEC).
- Siteco has established a system within the company that is in accordance with the applicable legal regulations. This system records all products, parts and materials that Siteco procures from suppliers.
